INTRODUCTION.

It has been deemed advisable, in deference to a very generally expressed wish amongst the members of the St. George's Benevolent Society, that the By-laws should be amended, not only to meet the requirements of the members, but also to enable the Society generally to attain greater efficiency in its operation.

In conformity to these views, a resolution was passed at the annual meeting to amend the By-laws.

The Committee appointed for this purpose met frequently, and the result of their labors is contained in the annexed By-laws, which were adopted at the general meeting of the Society, held on the 13th May, 1912.

It is earnestly to be hoped that the labors of the Committee may not have been in vain, but that the members of the Society will individually exert themselves to make large additions to the list of members, and by such means place in the hands of those who conduct the affairs of the Society largely increased facilities for dispensing relief to our fellow-countrymen.

It too often happens that private charity is bestowed upon unworthy objects. The St. George's Benevolent Society offers itself as a medium, and a very useful channel whereby the subscriptions of its members and the donations of charitably disposed persons may be devoted to objects worthy of and entitled to the warmest sympathies of Englishmen.

The Board of Management have supervision of the relief afforded by the Society, and it becomes their peculiar duty to make all necessary enquiries concerning applicants, and to afford relief to none but such as are worthy of it. By this means subscribers may rest assured that the moneys given by them are distributed in a proper manner.

Englishmen! let not this appeal be in vain! rest not satisfied until the St. George's Benevolent Society is made, as it can be, one every way worthy of the name we bear. Let not our poor and unfortunate countrymen, in a strange land, supplicate for assistance in vain. Let not the cries of the widows and orphans for assistance in their distress reach us without our doing something, however little, to meet their wants. They, as strangers here, have claims on none other but ourselves; be determined this appeal shall not be useless, but strengthen the hands of those who are willing to devote their time and labor to so good a cause.

H. H. CHAMP,
President.

Hamilton, May 13th, 1912.
